Committee Ticks Off Pre-Vacation Agenda

In an action-packed session that ran until midnight, the School Committee worked over an agenda Tuesday that included everything from the awarding of bid contracts to the scheduling of another language for the fall term.

The policy group has wrapped up its activities until August 7 unless the superintendent sees the need for a special meeting.

Now approved is the addition of Spanish to the high school curriculum and two to three first-year classes will be scheduled for September. The committee based its decision on the recommendation of Principal Philip Wormwood which was in turn influenced by a student survey on interest in Spanish and German.

A total of 55 expressed the desire to study Spanish while only 18 registered for German. If all those who signed for German should take advantage of the new Spanish program, it would mean the scheduling of three sections. Supt. Edward I. Erickson said. The Committee tossed out the superintendent's recommendations on pay for school nurses, adopted a scale in keeping with the

FinCom Approves Warrant Article

HEARING TONIGHT ON APARTMENTS

The Planning Board will hold a hearing tonight on the probate Warrant Article which seeks a zoning change to permit the construction of seven four-apartment units off Morton St.

The hearing will begin at 8 p.m. at Town Hall.

New Fin Com Is Appointed By Moderator

Moderator Arthur Williams named a former chairman of the Board of Selectmen and a former chairman of the old Board of Public Works to the Finance Committee Friday, in time for them to sit with the group in its consideration of the money article proposed for Monday's Town Meeting.

Appointed are J. Everett Collins 35 Summer St., and Allen M. Flye, 89 Lowell St. They replace former Chairman Kenneth E. Holmes and Stephen H. Pettit.

Their appointment ended three months of speculation about Williams' plans for Fin Com membership.

Collins was a member of the Board of Selectmen and Public Welfare and the Board of Assessors from 1935 until 1956 and chairman of both for his last two years of service. From 1941 to 1954 he represented Fifth Essex District in the House of Representatives and was chairman of the committee on counties and a member of the committee on civil service, state administration and ways and means.

In 1955 he was appointed to the board of review of the State Division of Employment Security and in 1961 he was named chairman. Collins is now retired from that post.

Flye, now with Cabot, Cabot & Forbes, was formerly a civil engineer with the Commonwealth. He was elected to the Board of Public Works in 1955 and named chairman a year later. He served in this post two years, and finished his term on the board in 1958. Re-named to the Fin Com are: Robert M. Henderson, 8 Dunbarton St.; Richard I. Anderson, 4 Appletree Ln.; Glenn W. Innman, 5 Stinson Rd.; Thomas S. Marjerson Jr., 87 Burnham Rd.; and Edward A. Romeo, 28 Summer St.

TEACHING: ITS APPEAL TO ME

Mary Eugenia Runyan

Since I have chosen teaching as my career, I have attempted to find the one person who seemed to have the attributes of a great teacher. George Lyman Kittredge, a professor at Harvard for forty-eight years, a great Shakespearean scholar, and a benefactor to all who were fortunate enough to know him, came to my mind.

Although "Kitty," as he was lovingly known by his students, was so severe with them that they dared not even acknowledge their presence in class if they didn't know the answer to one of his questions, they realized his great teaching ability. Not only did they realize this, but also his worthiness as a friend and advisor. Otherwise, would his students have traveled literally thousands of miles to seek his counsel on personal matters - or would he have received seventy-five roses from some of his female students on his seventy-fifth birthday?

Perhaps it is my reading of such people as Kittredge and my associations with other fine teachers that have led me to choose teaching for my career.

As my mother is a teacher, I refused for many years even to consider joining that profession. I feared that people would think I lacked creativeness and imagination if I simply accepted my mother's profession. But my own experiences have deleted that thought.

For three years I have taught swimming at a day camp. There, I have realized the great satisfaction gleaned from teaching. I have felt a moment of ultimate joy when a shy and terrified child has conquered her fears and jumped into the previously menacing water. And I have rejoiced with her as she has developed into a good swimmer.

Also, as I have tutored an eighth grade pupil, trying to help her fathom modern mathematics, I have seen that gleam of understanding which, to me, is one of the greatest rewards imaginable. It is such happenings as these that reading about people like George Lyman Kittredge, that have influenced me.

As I ponder over my choice of vocation, I often wonder if education is merely the study and memorization of facts or rather if it is the personal contacts that contribute more to true education. To me, to be able to teach facts is but one phase of education; to understand the children who must assimilate those facts is a greater one.

Because I feel that education has many facets - the molding of character, the instilling of previously accepted theories, and the development of creative and inquisitive minds - I am looking forward to working with children, hoping to inspire them in the same way that Kittredge and many of my teachers have inspired me.

WINSTON CHURCHILL - A MAN OF "HONOUR AND GOOD SENSE"

Nedra Rose Sanfilippo

I have not decided what profession I would like to pursue. I have considered medicine, journalism, and education. I am not, however, undecided about the type of person I would like to be. In Winston Churchill, I see a man who possessed many of the qualities I desire.

I would like to have more confidence in myself, my actions, my convictions. I want to have the courage to hold fast to what I believe to be right. I have found this confidence and this courage in the character of Winston Churchill. Here was a man who braved political destruction and world censure to stand by his own sincere convictions. He was ridiculed in the thirties as he cried out alone against the unseen dangers of Nazi Germany. He was ignored a decade later when he exclaimed the threats of Communism. And yet he stood firm. He did not back down; he did not retreat in the face of criticism. I admire Churchill's tenacious self-confidence; with his example, I hope to increase my own.

I would like to realize objectively my limitations so that I might strive against them. I desire to avoid the annoying labyrinth of exaggerated humility and the tireless dungeon of conceit. I want to have an accurate estimation of my own value, as I feel Churchill did of his. Churchill realized his limitations and worked to overcome them. Although admittedly weak in mathematics, he persevered well as Chancellor of the Exchequer; he fought against and strengthened what he knew to be his weakness.

Churchill also acknowledged his abilities and made use of them. During the Battle of Britain, the English people were cheered greatly by the appearance of their Prime Minister. Churchill, realizing his uplifting effect, would walk through the bombed streets, inspect the air raid shelters, and visit the troops. I admire him for not being falsely and unnecessarily modest.

I want my life to be one of constant work and activity, continually moving from one accomplishment to another. I enjoy the contest of a challenge. Stevenson expressed my feeling well when he said "... the true success is to labor." Churchill's life inspires me to ever-increasing labor. He said in all truthfulness: "I never had a dull or idle moment," and also, "I am certainly not one of those who need to be prodded. In fact, if anything, I am a prod." When not actively engaged in politics, Churchill busied himself in literature and art, making major contributions in both fields. Churchill could not be accused of apathy. Nor do I wish to be.

I realize from Churchill's example that ambiguity is neither demanded nor appreciated and that truth is both welcomed and respected. Churchill's written and spoken style left very little doubt; his honesty and his directness did not hinder his success, nor mar his popularity. Rather they increased both.

I have no desire to attain the futureless state of perfection. Churchill, for all his strengths, was not perfect. Regarding one of his faults, he confessed: "All the years that I have been in the House of Commons I have always said to myself one thing: 'Do not interrupt,' and I have never been able to keep to that resolution."

Now, whenever I feel myself tempted to give in - to give in to criticism, to exaggerated humility, to apathy, to ambiguity - I seek strength in my resolve from Winston Churchill, who said, "Never give in, never give in, never give in, in nothing, great or small, large or petty - never give in except to convictions of honour and good sense."

HELEN KELLER:
ANNE SULLIVAN'S GIFT TO THE WORLD

Karen Marie Horton

In 1887, by a well house in Tusculum, Alabama, a seven-year-old girl spelled out the word "water." The little girl was Helen Keller, and this achievement, though seemingly small to most of us, was one of the most important events of her life. Blind, deaf, and mute since she was nineteen months old, she first began to associate objects with words after only one month of work under the guidance of her determined teacher, Anne Sullivan - Anne Sullivan, the poor, ill, nearly blind daughter of Irish immigrants, who devoted her life to helping Helen Keller become a part of the rest of the world.

Years later, upon recalling the incident by the pump at the well house, Miss Keller wrote, "I left the well house eager to learn. Everything had a name, and each name gave birth to a new thought. As we returned to the house, every object I touched seemed to quiver with life." Every object quivered with life, life made possible only by the efforts of Anne Sullivan.

To help people has always been my ambition. But I know that reading about Helen Keller's experiences in learning how to communicate with the world made my desire become more animate. If Miss Sullivan had not given so much of herself, the world would have been deprived of a great woman, for today Helen Keller herself works internationally to help other handicapped people.

The more I thought about this wonderful gift of speech that God had given to me, the more I realized how lost I would be without it. I wanted to help others gain what had been given to me. I think it was then that I decided to become a speech therapist.

Thousands of other Helen Kellers are waiting hopefully for someone to help them break their barriers to the outside world. I would like to be the answer to one of their prayers. Perhaps I will not become world famous in my task. Probably no one will write a book about me. And I doubt that I shall ever be the topic of someone's graduation essay. But perhaps I can help someone to live a happier life - to benefit from our world and to contribute to it. I would be happy just to see a little girl able to say, "Mommy, I love you," or a little boy able to ask for a drink of water all by himself, or a young man able to walk down the street with confidence because he knows if he meets an acquaintance, he will be able to say, "Hello."

I know it will not be an easy task. It will take long, tiring hours of hard work, patience, and frustration. I shall probably wonder how I could have been so foolish as to have tried to accomplish such an impossible undertaking. But I hope that I will remember Helen Keller and her teacher. If it can be done once, it can be done again. I am confident that Miss Sullivan's work will give me the faith to continue so that eventually I will assist some struggling child to be victorious.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE
READY FOR LEAVE

town's new compensation and pay plan and voted as a policy matter that Erickson should work closely and consult frequently with the town manager on matters of mutual concern.

In addition, Chairman Robert Sherman scored the superintendent and General Services Supervisor Jack Berberian for bringing in the recently approved non-professional salary schedule without checking it over with Town Manager Richard Bowen to see that it dovetailed with the town pay plan.

Sherman said that both this committee and the previous one had made it clear that non-professional pays in the School Department should be at the same rates as those elsewhere in the municipal setup wherever possible. The chairman then said that in going over the new non-professional pays he had found several instances where there are discrepancies between what the School Department and the Town Hall are paying for like jobs.

He agreed when Supt. Erickson pointed out that he, Sherman, had sat in on a meeting to lay out the schedule prior to its approval. The chairman indicated that he had been under the impression the then-suggested pays were correlating with the Jacobs report. "But," he said, "mistakes have been made. I'm the first to admit it."

Pays Approved

The pays for nurses approved Tuesday will follow those of the town for Grade 15 - $4,656 - $5,588, but will be pro-rated for a 40 week year. The superintendent had recommended paying RN's $4,000 to $5,500 for 40 weeks and RN's with 30 credits or a degree, $4,500-$6,000. This, said Sherman, would put the nurses at a rate comparable to the town's Grade 18.

In the discussion, both Erickson and Berberian complained that they had drafted their own non-professional pay scale only after two or three attempts to get the town's consultant on compensation to return to Andover to discuss the wide differences between what the Jacobs report recommended and what they felt non-teaching personnel should get.

With three members insisting that the School Department should take the initiative in "relating to the town," the committee approved a chairman's motion requiring Erickson to meet with Bowen and report back at the next meeting. The subject? "You must have something to talk about," said Sherman.

With the chairman voting, the three-member majority also formalized its attitude on non-professional pays by spelling out as policy that both pays and fringe benefits for employees in this category should be "comparable" to those for other municipal workers in like jobs.

Gifted Program

The same majority also approved member Virginia Cole's proposal that a program for gifted children be started in the elementary schools in September, 1965.

"That's quite an order," said Supt. Erickson in protest. But Mrs. Cole said that school officials have been discussing a program for the gifted "for years". Pointing out that guidance department figures indicate that there are 175 gifted children (with IQ's of over 130) in our elementary schools. Mrs. Cole said, "I don't think we should wait."

Her later motion that in-service training for teachers be held monthly after pupils dismissal hours failed twice, both with and without the clause establishing that the program should not interfere with classes. The general feeling seemed to be that the superintendent should establish the pattern for such teacher training and report back.

The committee discussed the Special Classes program for retarded and a current experiment which routes students with advanced "adjustment" or learning problems into this program with parental permission. Talking to these points were Anna Flynn Walsh, head of the special classes program and members of her staff.

(Note: A fuller Townsman report on this program and a League of Women Voters' study of local opportunities for the retarded will be carried in next week's paper.)

Mosaic Wins
First Prize

Andover High School's "Mosaic" has received a first place certificate in the Columbia University Scholastic Press Assn.'s 41st annual school newspaper contest. This was the school's first entry. For a first place rating a school publication must score a minimum of 850 out of a possible 1000 points. The rating is divided into four categories: content, writing and editing, make-up and general considerations.

Each year high schools throughout the United States compete in this publications contest. In addition to the competition, each school receives valuable criticism on its publication.

Word joined Bell in 1930. He was initially involved with the engineering of toll installations for toll and radio and the design of roll transmission equipment.

During the war years, he was engaged in the design of some air-borne counter measures radio relay equipment, and later in charge of a group responsible for the design and development of microwave radio relay equipment. He has headed a group concerned with microwave radio equipment and systems engineering since 1958.

Wreck Draws
The Curious

Curious sightseers crawled over the wreckage this week of the mangled B&M engine and freight cars derailed here Sunday taking the life of the engineer.

The railroad resumed service Tuesday with the morning commuter train, but as of Wednesday was still operating on the north-bound track only. A company spokesman said officials hoped to have both tracks cleared by Thursday.

The official investigation of the accident which caused the 109-foot train to crash to a halt adjacent to the Raytheon Co. parking lot is still underway. Unofficially it is being blamed on a two-foot covering of mud washed by the rain onto the tracks from a new highway embankment. Though the train was moving at an estimated 10 miles per hour, the force of its weight tore up several hundred feet of track.

Dead of his injuries was John Ginepra, 66, 135 Main St., Winthrop. Other railroad employees riding the freight escaped serious injury.

School Images Lack Luster Say Officials

If each heeds the advice of the other, both the School Committee and the professional School Department staff will be giving some summer thought to improving their images.

Committee Chairman Robert Sherman asked Supt. Edward I. Erickson Tuesday what he was doing about reprimanding teachers and administrators for a recent public display of their attitudes toward Curriculum Coordinator Lauriston Ward and his suggestions for improving the instructional program in Andover schools.

Teachers and administrators in the audience of 100 at the last School Committee meeting reacted vocally and otherwise to various statements made during the discussion of Ward's report.

Miffed, Erickson retorted that the School Committee had better give some attention to its own image. And Committeeman William A. Doherty pounded the table to emphasize his contention that the Committee "has the worst image it has ever had since I've been on it." Doherty has served some 30 years.

To Sherman's reply, "You're contributing to it," Doherty said, "No, I'm not."

Summer School Starts A.M. Sessions July 6

Andover Summer School classes will get underway July 6 and continue through August 13, Director G. Arthur Danforth said this week. Classes will meet Monday through Friday from 8-10 a.m. and 10:15-12:15.

New this year is a course in instrumental music.

The cost for regular classes is $25.00 per course for residents of Andover, and $35.00 per course for non-residents. Special arrangements have been made for resident parents who enroll more than one child. The cost in such cases is $25.00 for the first child, and $20.00 for each additional child.

Valle Hearing Draws Crowd Of Residents

A crowd of some 30 residents attending a Thursday Board of Appeals hearing seemed more interested in than wary of the Valle Real Estate Corp. plan for construction of a $1.5 million motel-restaurant in West Andover.

The company announced last month that it has an option on 21 acres of Shattuck farm land on River Rd., off Rt. 93.

Progress with the project is dependent upon B. of A. approval of two special permits, to allow construction of a motel and a restaurant on land zoned for industry, and a variance to permit erection of a 700 sq. ft. sign.

The company's request for a liquor license is not expected to pose a problem since one is available and another may be in the offing as a result of the latest census which set Andover's population at just over 20,000. The sign is creating interest however, since the request is for a structure 400 sq. ft. larger than town regulations permit.

A Valle spokesman said that a sign the dimensions of that proposed is necessary as an adequate warning to motorists wishing to make a safe exit on River Rd. Planning Board Chairman Harold King, who sat in on the hearing, agreed that the safety factor may make this "a special situation."

Also heard at the hearing: A request from Alexander Y. Milne, 190 Summer St., who wants to build a two-stall garage closer the lot line than allowed. Taken under advisement.

The opposition of River Rd. residents to a petition from Darin E. Pepe who is interested in purchasing a lot and dividing it. The lots created would have sufficient area, but insufficient frontage.

Portions of the land in question are in use as a "street" and garage access by neighbors who contend it was their understanding that a street would be provided.

Approved on the spot and now officially filed, a hardship decision favoring a petition by Donald R. Curtis for a variance which will permit an addition to his Foster's Pond Rd. house.

Curtis has plenty of area for the extra room, but a Zoning Board variance is necessary because his house is on an unaccepted street. Because of family illness and the rush need for space, the board put through its decision immediately. Curtis still will have to wait the 20 days required for a building permit issued as a result of a variance.

Andover Professor On Biology Staff

Dr. John R. Jablonski of Andover, associate professor of science at Boston University's College of Basic Studies will be on the staff for the school's fifth summer institute in field biology.

To some he's Father, Pop or Dad or maybe by now Grandpa or Gramps. He usually doesn't get much attention. Or ask much for that matter. But he gives a lot of love, time, attention, help, kindness and of himself. Remember him—he's the one who sees there's always enough of everything for everyone in the family. He may have any kind of job... but when he gets home he's king. Until he has to burn the papers or run to the store... forgetting what he wants to do.

He's the one who listens patiently as he hears that women just aren't appreciated. So he buys Mom a little something. How many times this past year has Dad had to reach inside his "mad-money" side of the wallet for some small emergency? ... new shoes, a dress, the paper boy. It didn't cost much—not at the time anyway. But it was enough to put him that much further away from that fishing rod or reel, or a golf set or new club, maybe golf balls... or some one special sports thing he wanted for himself. He's really quite a busy, generous guy. But he doesn't make much commotion about it. To him it's all part of being Dad. Is he appreciated? He thinks he is. You know he is. Show your Dad what a great sport you think he is during the one day out of 365 that's especially his. Father's Day, Sunday, June 20.

You can give every Dad on your list a big smile surprise this Father's Day with something special from Dana's Sport Shop. We have a whole store full of big smile surprises waiting for your special sport... your Dad... at Dana's sport Shop.

the lot line than allowed. Taken under advisement.

* The opposition of River Rd. residents to a petition from Dario E. Pepe who is interested in purchasing a lot and dividing it. The lots created would have sufficient area, but insufficient frontage.

Portions of the land in question are in use as a "street" and garage access by neighbors who contend it was their understanding that a street would be provided.

* Approved on the spot and now officially filed, a hardship decision favoring a petition by Donald R. Curtis for a variance which will permit an addition to his Foster's Pond Rd. house.

Curtis has plenty of area for the extra room, but a Zoning Board variance is necessary because his house is on an unaccepted street. Because of family illness and the rush need for space, the board put through its decision immediately. Curtis still will have to wait the 20 days required for a building permit issued as a result of a variance.

The Logic Of It All

No one should come to Town Meeting Monday with the notion that it will be easy to pick away at the logic of the Selectmen's proposal that we purchase the Killorin property on Main Street as an expansion to the site for the new town hall.

It is simple enough to think of reasons why it would be better to pick another spot:

The traffic spilling out from two markets, a shopping complex, a bank, a post office and a service station make the block between Punchard and Chestnut Sts. one of the most congested in the downtown area.

The location doesn't provide the most idyllic New England setting for a town building; certainly the view across a common or a square would be more in keeping with the traditional stalwart-village image.

It is a crying shame to remove any more prime commercial property from the tax books when Main Street real estate values are climbing.

It is all true enough, and the Selectmen know it. But they have been bombarded with suggestions for substitutions and still it is their best judgment that the Shaw site is the only practical site.

For one thing, we own it. To acquire another centrally located site of comparable dimensions would necessitate a series of land takings and the price tag would ultimately more than equal what we are going to have to settle for if we acquire the Killorin location.

Even if we could backtrack and snap up the Square & Compass Club land that so many still mourn, we would have an expensive project ahead of us. It would mean re-routing High Street and acquiring the Barnard property — and without the federal financial aid proposed when this location was considered with the urban renewal package.

Once you accept the logic of the Shaw site as the reasonable solution to the location problem, it becomes a lot easier to accept the contention that the Killorin property must be had.

A town hall can be built on the land we now own, just as it is. But there are both aesthetic and dollars and cents reasons for providing more frontage. If a hall is built to spread across the lot, it will cut off access to rear lot parking; if it is planned long and narrow, it will permit ready access but limit the architects in design.

And to remove roughly 40 parking spaces from the town's only public parking lot and create a built-in demand for as many as another 40, is to curtail downtown parking in a period of population expansion. If the town buys parking for its citizens (which they in turn help pay for in meter receipts), it helps the merchants. But it also helps the town as business prospers and real estate values in the center become more taxable.

All of this is but a portion of the thinking that has led the Board of Selectmen to propose acquisition of the Killorin site. The Finance Committee has now concurred.

Quorum Bait

You may not be interested in having a say about where and in what shape the new town hall gets built, but there is at least one other good reason for attending the Special Town Meeting June 21.

Also in the warrant is an article asking voters to give officials the authority to seek federal aid to cover the cost of plans and specifications for a new elementary school — one educators foresee will be necessary by 1968.

If we don't get a move on, we will be as far behind the need with this building as we now are with the senior high school.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman: Please accept my congratulations on your excellent editorial concerning curriculum coordination in the Andover School Department. The problem was of deep concern to me last year as Chairman of the School Committee, though it ranked second in priority behind the school building issue which has been successfully resolved.

You state the issue very clearly when you indicate that "the people . . . obviously want calculated change or they would not have backed candidates so clearly dedicated to intense and perpetual curriculum review".

The School Committee introduced the position of Curriculum Coordinator and accepted the Superintendent's recommendation for the incumbent because updating and coordinating the curriculum had become a problem of such magnitude in progressive school systems of Andover's size that a specific staff assignment was required. The School Committee established the position of Curriculum Coordinator as the second ranking administrative post reporting direct to the Superintendent, with full authority to investigate and recommend improvements in curriculum and other educational programs.

Any position whose primary mission involves the "management of change" creates, understandably, disagreement with other professional people within the system who wish, quite naturally, to continue with curriculum and teaching methods which have worked well in the past. Without accelerated change and improvement, however, Andover's school system would soon fall behind, and our young people would be at a disadvantage when they attempt to enter college or seek employment.

It is the Superintendent's clear responsibility to resolve any differences of opinion by giving full consideration to the values in each point of view. Change and the controversial discussion which it generates are healthy symptoms of a progressive school system. It is the Superintendent's job to manage these changes in such a way that personality clashes are avoided and constructive results take place. As a man of broad administrative experience, the Superintendent is capable of assuming this role.

During 1964, we struggled, with only partial success, to improve the mechanism of the School Department to cope with these problems. It has been healthy to bring this subject to the attention of the public so that our School administrators can have a better understanding of the objectives for excellence which townspeople desire in their public school system.

John S. Sullivan
61 Salem St.

To the Editor of the Townsman: The Town of Andover has never to my knowledge adopted an official parking policy but we are now faced with a specific parking decision without benefit of any prior frame of reference. Like Topsy, parking here just grew and grew. And most of it is here to stay.

We now have exclusive free parking areas adjacent to town hall for three kinds of town employees: town hall administrators, police administrators and fire administrators. (I wonder what would happen to a mere citizen and taxpayer who has the audacity to use one of these publicly-owned spots.) We also have special free parking areas for three other groups, the first two also being town employees: school administrators, teachers and high-school students.

Finally, we have the Shaw property which accommodates two more groups: central retail and service people, and (at long last) the general public, who are the only group of the eight listed that will as a rule park for only a short while, thus creating fast turnover and multiple use of a given parking spot.

Comes now the first official move to curtail the town's parking facilities. And guess who is in danger of getting hurt?

Not the three town employee groups. Not the three educational groups whose parking facilities grow with every new school. Not even the central business and professional people because they get there first.

The only group threatened with a shrinkage of parking facilities is, of course, the general public in search of the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker in our central business district.

That is why I think it is in the public's interest to retain and even to expand our present parking capacity.

Group number eight is entitled to a break.

Dino G. Valz

To the Editor of the Townsman: It was helpful of the Townsman in its long editorial, 6-3 issue, to direct attention to the fact that new Moderator, Rep. Arthur Williams, has not yet made appointments to the Finance Committee. However, its implication that somehow it is possible for a public official to make appointments to office that are not political indicates that more knowledge is necessary.

The Townsman, in common with others, seems not to comprehend that a unique design of American government, separation of powers at all levels, is based on this fact: It is impossible to remove

Down The Years

75 Years Ago — June, 1890

H. W. Clapp has shipped to Andover five of his new designs for drinking fountains. They have occasioned much favorable comment and Andover is to be considered favored in receiving such desirable fountains. With the many improvements over those formerly invented by him, they can but satisfy the increasing demand for drinking fountains.

T. E. Rhodes and family have moved into the house formerly occupied by the late Dr. Kimball on Elm St. Mr. Rhodes will now devote his whole time to the study and teaching of music.

The clerks in the leading stores in town have this week presented their employers with a strong petition to close the stores every evening in the week except Saturday at 6 o'clock. . . We hope the employers will grant the request and the Townsman will print all the signs needed to announce a general closing free.

50 Years Ago — June, 1915

The commencement exercises of Milton Academy were held Saturday morning and among those who took part was Gerald Towle of this town. He was valedictorian and was also the winner of the Gorham Pulfrey Fanconprize. Mr. Towle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Towle of Porter Rd.

There is quite a building boom going on just now on Chestnut and Avon Streets and the sound of the hammer is heard plainly at all times of the day. Within a very small radius nine new houses are being erected, five on Chestnut St. and four on Avon St. The first house on Chestnut streets is being built for John Anderson of the firm of Anderson & Bowman, a short way farther on Chestnut St., John F. Cole, of the firm of Hardy & Cole is building a cottage house which he is to rent. At the corner of Chestnut and Morton streets, work on the cellars of the houses to be erected by Postmaster John H. McDonald and Frank McDonald is being rushed. Near the corner of Chestnut and Avon Sts., Daniel Haggerty is building a small cottage house which he plans to rent when completed.

Jeanette Ogden Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Thomas of South Orange, N. J., and Edgartown and Edward Barton Chapin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Chapin of Andover and Edgartown were married June 10.

25 Years Ago — June, 1940

The Andover National Bank announced this week the opening of a new automobile finance department, designed to offer the community a low-cost banking service for the purchase of a new or used automobile. Charles O. Baxter of Arundel St. is the manager of the new department.

Two long-time teachers at Phillips Academy, Guy H. Eaton and Charles A. Parmelee, were honored by their fellow faculty members Friday as their retirements were announced at the annual luncheon.

10 Years Ago — June, 1955

Four Punchard High School students won national recognition by having their paintings chosen for an international exhibit. They were Beverly Becotte, Thomas Lawler, Barbara Carbonetti and Daniel Hurley.

A record-breaking $53 tax rate has been announced by the assessors. It exceeds last year's 47 dollar figure by $6 — and last year's rate was a peak figure.

The real possibility of a Sunday two-service arrangement at West Parish church within two or three years was voiced this week by Rev. Hugh B. Penney.

Fifty-two Punchard graduates have enrolled in schools or colleges, according to the guidance department of the high school. The figure represents 44.6 percent of the graduating class of 118.

The Educated Traveler

Travel is always a popular topic of conversation and study at the beginning of summer. So it was a hundred years ago, Miss Miriam Putnam, librarian, has selected the writings of famous travelers, for those who wish to spend part of their travel time with outstanding adventures of the past. The following books are taken from Miss Putnam's booklist called "The Educated Traveler." Copies of the complete list are available at the desk in the Main Reading Room.

DOMESTIC MANNERS OF THE AMERICANS — Trollope; JOURNEY TO AMERICA — de Tocqueville; TWO YEARS BEFORE THE MAST — Dana; THE VOYAGE OF THE BEAGLE — Darwin; A WEEK ON THE CONCORD AND MERRIMACK — Thoreau; THE OREGON TRAIL — Parkman and PERSONAL NARRATIVES OF A PILGRIMAGE — Burton.

LIFE ON THE MISSISSIPPI — Mark Twain; LAST JOURNALS IN CENTRAL AFRICA — Livingstone; TRAVELS WITH A DONKEY — Stevenson; TRAVELS IN ARABIA DESERTA — Doughty; THE EXPLORATION DIARIES OF H. M. Stanley and SAILING ALONE AROUND THE WORLD — Slocum.

Starting Monday when the library goes on its summer schedule, morning open hours will be observed in the children's room which will then close at 5 p.m. Upstairs in the Main Reading Room, summer hours are from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. During the summer the library is closed on Saturdays in all departments; we shall be open on June 19 and closed from June 26 until October.

At Ballardvale there will be no change, and the branch will continue to be open on Mondays and Thursdays from 2 to 5 in the afternoon and from 6 to eight in the evening.

Camp & Travel, USA

Any of these, or for that matter, any book a year old and not on a reserved reading list is eligible for the special loan period — until September 15 if you wish. Camping books — where to and how to — and books about the U.S.A. are among those suggested by Mrs. John Wilson, head of circulation. Auto and station wagon camping with lists of America's campgrounds by states, and popular travel reading such as Steinbeck's TRAVELS WITH CHARLIE are included.

If you wish to take advantage of the extra long loan period, it is necessary to mention this when you arrive at the charge desk. The vacation loan period is not automatic.

On Vacation

Miss Miriam Putnam, librarian, is enjoying a short vacation. Miss Elizabeth Russell will start her holiday after school closes.

Reading Clubs

Mrs. Margaret Berry will initiate the summer reading clubs for youngsters now in the first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades of Andover's elementary schools. She plans to have the first club meetings after school closes. Additional details including the important one of how to qualify will be announced next week. As in other years, the program is to be voluntary and love of reading as well as acquaintance with good children's books will be one of the goals, rather than quantity of reading.

politics from the policy, programs and procedures of civic affairs and yet secure liberty (see Madison's Federalist Essay No. Ten). Consequently, we are limited to those arrangements which apply to politics inherent in every civic situation in such a manner as shall produce the most good because of, or in spite of, politics. That is why government is divided into separate but equal parts. That is the purpose of having a finance committee entirely separate from, equal in power to, and independent from all other parts of town government. Comprehension of, and respect for that is vital if we are to be reliable administrators of civic affairs, commentators on them and arrive at arrangements that are an improvement upon what we have.

Those forms of government which can be effective only in a mutual admiration society are not for us. Rather diversity with liberty is our goal and hallmark.

Moderator Williams' program to date suggests the following correctives: 1) no member of one level of government shall be allowed to serve concurrently in another level of government and 2) it being impractical for a new moderator to make appointments on the very day he is elected to office, he should be allowed 120 days. (Will the By-law Study Committee please note.)

Sidewalk Bazaar Coming Weekend Of June 25 - 26

The 5th Annual Sidewalk Bazaar will be held Friday and Saturday, June 25 & 26, along Main Street in the central business district according to Kenneth P. Thompson, chairman.

The bazaar is sponsored by the retail committee of the Andover Chamber of Commerce and serves as a fund-raising event for over 20 local organizations and charities. This year's bazaar will feature several musical groups, stagecoach rides and an antique auto display, plus four children's mechanical rides.

In addition to these features, there will be the bargain tables of the Andover merchants and the colorful booths of the organizations - all offering special money-saving merchandise, arts and crafts items and home made bakery and candy items during the two days.

The bazaar will officially start at 10:00 a.m. Friday morning, June 25, and the Merrimack Valley National Bank is sponsoring a calliope which will provide carnival music throughout the day. The Andover Savings Bank is also sponsoring musical entertainment on Friday; and during the evening hours, two additional musical groups will perform - the first being the famed Clan MacPherson Bagpipe Band which will give a concert in front of the Bay State Merchants National Bank from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. Macartney's will also have a musical group for the entertainment of its customers.

On Friday evening, a fish chowder supper will be staged by Beta Sigma Phi Sorority in the municipal parking lot from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.; and from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. on the same evening, a strawberry festival will be held on the lawn of the Free Christian Church.

On Saturday morning, a bicycle and doll carriage parade will be held for children under 12 years of age. Prizes will be awarded for the best decorated doll carriages and bicycles. The parade will form on Punchard Avenue at 10:45 and at 11:00 a.m., the participants will proceed down Main Street to the Town Hall area where the judging and the awarding of prizes will take place.

In addition to the bicycle and doll carriage parade on Saturday morning, there will be a display of antique cars on Main Street Saturday afternoon.

The Cyr Oil Co. stagecoach and the Chamber's rides will be operating on both days.

Over 20 organizations are expected to sponsor booths featuring balloons, cotton candy, bakery items, white elephant tables and the like during the two days to raise money for their activities and charities.

Taxpayers Ask School Comm. Explanation

The Andover Taxpayers' Assn. took the School Committee to task this week for its outright rejection of the idea that school administrative offices be incorporated in a new town hall.

Association President Robert S. Neikirk said by letter that though a member of the School Committee and the superintendent gave recent personal opinions in opposition to such a move, no reason for the decision was given.

What the taxpayers want is some explanation of what facts were given to the committee prior to its 4-1 vote and by whom. The committee rejected the proposal June 1 upon the recommendation of the superintendent who proposed the remodeling of Jackson School as a more "economical" solution to the school office problem.

In its letter, the taxpayers ask: "Did the committee cause to be made a study of the present office procedures and practices to compare and contrast with the possibilities inherent in having all town operations under one roof with the consequent opportunities of co-operation and uniform and consolidated book-keeping procedures?"

"What are the objections to occupying the same building with the other town officials and employees, especially since the present location of the offices in the Central School is depriving the system of much needed class room space?"

"Did you not discover any reasons why the suggested move might be of advantage to the town. The school department is after all a part of the town and segregation is not necessary?"

NEW MEMBERS

West Church received 10 new members. The following members were received into the West Church last Sunday morning on confession of faith: Virginia Campbell, Roger Johnson, Douglas McGrillis, Mr.

and Mrs. Wilson Neisser, Catherine Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Podgurski, Donna Remington and Carol Williams.

Following the church service an informal reception for new members was held in the parlor.
